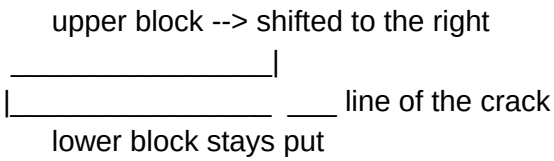
Hand sketch of the offset layers.
A text equivalent of the sketch I made beside my notes.

Rough picture:



Reading the field:
- The upper block ends where the crack cuts across the face.
- The lower block continues level beneath it.
- Viewed from the road, the shift is to the right, about the width of a hand.

This sketch belongs to my visit only.